

MARK CHANEY, RA
Principal

Mark has extensive experience in the architectural design and graphics industry and is principal of Redmark Design. As a registered architect in the states of New York, Connecticut, and Vermont, NCARB certified and a LEED AP; his professional experience encompasses a complete range of architectural services with several award winning firms, including KPF in New York. Recently, he has been associated with VT AIA award winning residential homes and university interior design projects throughout the Northeast.

Mark's renderings, drawings, and photographs have been exhibited in a variety of shows and monographs. He has led computer graphics courses for firms and universities across the country. He has lectured on computer graphic topics at workshops across North America and has written articles for a variety of publications. He donates time and resources to student and charitable projects including Habitat for Humanity. He has degrees in architecture from Columbia University and Kansas State University. He was recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award and Alpha Rho Chi Leadership Award at KSU.